Compulsory Student Body Card Rule To Go Into Effect Next Semester; $3.50 Set As Price

Brother Austin Gives Final Approval On Compulsory Card Issue; Students To Be Forced To Buy Card On Registration

Breaking all precedents in legislative matters this week, William Feneran, president-elect of the Saint Mary's Student Body, announced that there would be compulsory student body cards next year.

Feneran explained that the compulsory card is necessary if the student body tresaury is to exist. He explained further that lack of sufficient funds would demand the abolition of all student activities and social events, for no government can act favorably without funds.

BROTHER AUSTIN APPROVES

The bill to enact this legislation was first presented to the Executive Council for their approval. The bill met with immediate approbation and was sent to Brother Austin for his word of approval. Since the proposal had met with favor with the majority of the students, Brother Austin's approval made a general student body vote unnecessary.

August Zipse, treasurer-elect, and his staff will be in charge of the proceedings. The student must contact Zipse or one of his aides and pay the required $3.50. No one will be permitted to file his study card without first purchasing the student body card.

MORE ACTIVITIES

"This plan is not merely a new method of extracting money from you," said Feneran, "but it is a case of dire need. The revenue will be used to carry out properly the business of your government and your social plans. The benefits will soon return to you, and your money will not be wasted."

Insofar as everyone will have a card, this plan will afford the officers a constant check on the number of students. There will be no change in the compulsory "Gael," and this fee will be collected the second semester in the same manner as before.

TREASURER — August Zipse, newly elected treasurer of the ASSMC, who has already begun some astounding reforms. Zipse, with President-elect William Feneran, announced this week that the students would have compulsory student body cards next year. The price was set at $3.50.

No School This Summer At Moraga

No summer school will be offered at Saint Mary's this summer, according to Thomas Twomey, assistant Recorder. This does not mean, he said, that there would not be summer sessions in the future.

The principal reason which forced the discontinuance of plans for the extra session was that not enough students had signed up for particular courses. There were so many courses desired that it would not have been practical for the College to provide teachers for the comparatively small number of students in each class when there were so many different classes.

THREE SEMESTERS

The three-semester plan will not be put into effect at Saint Mary's for the time being Twomey said. The plan will be watched in other institutions, he stated, and if there is found to be a need for such a plan at Saint Mary's the matter will be taken up again.

Twomey did give this advice to the students:

"The faculty and the administration urge all students to attend summer schools if possible! at places like the University of California, with its Summer Session, Intersession and Post Session, almost a semester's credit can be earned.

ATTEND OTHER SCHOOLS

"Other summer schools are at Stanford, San Francisco State, San Jose State, and the University of San Francisco. This latter school also has a night school during the summer.

"Students planning to follow courses during the summer are requested to contact the Recorder's office to avoid conflict with other courses, and to insure that they take the correct courses."

Starrs Is Elected APGU Club President

This week, the Alpha Pi Gamma Upsilon held its last meeting of the present semester. It presented itself as an accasion for the election of new officers. Francis Starrs, sophomore debater, was elected president; James Boock is the new vice-president, and the secretary-treasurer was Daniel McNamara.

The new regime pledges a reformation of the force which kept the group inactive during this semester.

Donnelly Wins Second Annual Fitzgerald Meet

Lindland Second; Callen Is Third In Frosh Contest

Martin Donnelly, a Domincan student, and graduate of Saint James high school in San Francisco, was the winner in the second annual Fitzgerald oratory contest for freshman speakers, which was held in De La Salle Lounge Tuesday afternoon. James Lindland, another Dominican student from St. Ignatius high school in San Francisco won second place, and Bertram Callen, a freshman day student who graduated from St. Peter's Boys' High in San Francisco was third.

ELIGIBLE FOR COTTLE

Donnelly, whose selection on the general topic "The Papal Plan For World Peace" was "A One Point Peace Plan," will be presented with a medal at the commencement exercises on May 10, while Lindland, who spoke on "Christ or War," and Callen, whose topic was "Our Victory," were presented with books by Brother Francis, freshman speech moderator. According to the rules of the contest, as explained by Brother Cyprian, the chairman of the affair, the three winners are now eligible to compete in the Annual Cottle Oratorical Contest.

Guests of the Freshman Class at the contest, on a tour of the campus, and at dinner were outstanding orators and debaters from the following high schools: Saint Mary's College High, Albany High, Berkeley High, St. Joseph's High, Piedmont High, Alameda High, Acalanes High, Mt. Diablo Union High, Castlemont High, John Swett High, St. Vincent's High, Sacred Heart College, St. Peter's Boys' High, St. James High, Oakland High, St. Ignatius High, Oakland Technical High, Roosevelt High, St. Mary's High, of Stockton, Fremont High, and St. Elizabeth's High.

JUDGES

Joseph Picchi, President of the Freshman Class, acted as general chairman of the day, and John Scanlon, varsity football player, and Frosh vice president, introduced the speakers. The judges were Miss Lily Lahti, Acalanes High School; Ensign William Egan, '41, former varsity debate manager; Mr. Frank Reynolds, '32, Alameda; Mrs. Frank Reynolds; Mr. Robert McAndrews, '32, National Broadcasting Company promotional manager for the western division.

Student Campus Work

Students who desire employment on the campus during the summer vacation must see Brother Lucius immediately.

All those who want employment during the next semester must file their applications with Brother Lucius not later than June 30. Student jobs will be available during the fall term.

Attention is also called to the graduating seniors that the degree fee must be paid before Wednesday, May 6.

Conservative Gael Issued To Students

Book Shows Large Profit For First Time In Its History

The 1942 Gael was distributed to the student body yesterday. Milo Mackin, the editor, stated that he has sold nearly two hundred and eighty books already. In contrast with the past decade, the Gael will show at least a slight profit.

The Gael was dedicated by Mackin to Brother Austin, president of Saint Mary's College, and to Brother L. Edward, instructor in education at Saint Mary's. The book, which consists of one hundred and forty pages has a dark-red leather binding, and there are five colored pages with artistic scenes of the campus.

COST REVEALED

The cost of the entire yearbook will be approximately $1,550 and the revenue will come to almost $1,625, allowing for an approximate profit of $75. Mackin, who took the entire financial responsibility for the book, introduced a plan of sponsorship in which alumni, parents of students and the Saint Mary's Club participated. This plan somewhat alleviated what was hitherto a staggering debt.

The feature of the book is the extensive informal section which includes pictures of last year's track meet, the Fordham trip, the tennis squad, the Passion and Irish plays, intramural sports and boxing, airplane shots and pictures of our freak snowstorm.

ART FEATURED

Another feature is a sketch by Brother Cornelius, head of the art department and originator of the Keith Exhibit, of an art museum that some day is hoped to be built at Saint Mary's. The cartoon work of George Collopy is seen in the football section.

On the literary side is seen the Oliver essays of Vincent Mancini and Bertram Callen, as well as articles by August Zipse, William Feneran and Gerard Fitzpatrick.

The editorial staff included Daniel McNamara, James Boock and August Zipse. The sports staff under Sports Editor William Feneran included James Lorrigan and Stanley Rischard. Photographers were William Gormeley, John Malone, Stephen Miller and Horway Witteman. Businessmen were Eugene Doyle, Leonard Burke and Ray Henwood. Acknowledged for their kind aid were Richard Saveri, Joseph Picchi, Gerard Fitzpatrick, Raymond Sabatte, Joseph Marini, Robert Klatt and John Klein.

New Army Air Corps Program Now Offered

Students who pass the Army Air Force examination may apply for enlistment in the Air Force, and if they are accepted, they may then apply for a deferred basis. They will then be able to continue their college courses through graduation before being called to active duty, subject to call only in cases of national necessity at the direction of the Secretary of War.

More details of this program may be secured from Mr. Twomey of the Recorder's Office who has been appointed College Air Force Advisor for this work by the Army.

TWOMEY HEAD

"Besides flying officer possibilities," says Twomey, "there are many opportunities for ground officership. All those interested in this program should contact the office or the nearest Aviation Recruiting Station."

It is important that all applicants have their birth certificates and three letters of recommendation with them when appearing for enlistment.

Applications for appointment as Aviation Cadets have arrived and may be secured from Mr. Twomey by anyone who is interested.

Class Of 1942 Graduates May 10th

Horway Witteman

Brother U. Cassian

Brother V. David

Gerard Fitzpatrick

Ilo Scatena

Harold McLaughlin

William Pyne

Clifford Russell

Honorary Doctor Of Law Degrees, Moraga Crest Go To Two Laymen, One Bishop

The Moraga Crest will be awarded to Herbert Ellsworth Cory, Ph.D., at the 79th annual commencement exercises of Saint Mary's College on Sunday, May 10. The program starts at 2:30 p.m.

Honorary degrees of Doctors of Laws will be received by Duane G. Hunt, D.D., Bishop of Salt Lake City, and John J. Van Nostrand, Ph.D., Professor of Ancient History at the University of California.

MORAGA CREST

The Moraga Crest is awarded each year by Saint Mary's College to the layman making the most valuable contribution to Catholic culture. Recipient of the honor last year was James L. Hagerty, Dean of the School of Arts and Letters at Saint Mary's College.

Cory, who will be the principal speaker at the commencement exercises, is Professor of Liberal Arts at the University of Washington. His most recent work is his book, "Emancipation of a Free-thinker."

The commencement exercises will begin at 2:30 p. m. on Sunday, May 10, and will be held in the quadrangle in front of the chapel. The honors will be awarded at that time.

BISHOP HUNT OUTSTANDING

Bishop Hunt is an outstanding clergyman in the Rocky Mountain area, and is respected by members of all sects in that area, particularly by the Mormons, who have their headquarters in his diocese. His Excellency is also a very good friend of Saint Mary's College, and has been instrumental in directing students to attend here. He is a good friend of Brother Albert, former President of Saint Mary's.

Professor Van Nostrand is an authority on Greek and Roman history, and has published several textbooks in this field. He also has collaborated in preparing works on medieval history as well. In addition, he has done commendable work as student advisor for both graduate and undergraduate students.

Recorders At SF Meet

Last Saturday, Brother Bernard, recorder, and Mr. Thomas Twomey, assistant recorder, attended the spring meeting of the Registrars of the Pacific Coast at the Sir Francis Drake Hotel in San Francis in San Francisco. As representatives of Saint Mary's College they were present at both the morning and afternoon sessions.

The two main speakers on the program were John P. Mitchell of Stanford University and W. C. Pomeroy of the University of California at Berkeley.

De La Salle Medal Winner Reveals Unusual Career

By RICHARD SAVERI

Not only is this year's graduating class unusual in that only one lay student is graduating with honors, but also in the fact that this same student has displayed the greatest ability and activity in both academic and extra-curricular functions to receive three of the highest honors that are awarded any student by this College of Mary.

Horway Witteman will be justly honored at this Sunday's commencement exercises with the De LaSalle medal, the highest honor that a student may achieve at Saint Mary's College. If this were not enough, Witteman will also serve as valedictorian for his class, will receive the Mallon Debating Medal and the B. P. Oliver Essay Award, and will graduate with maxima cum laude honors.

GENIAL GENTLEMAN

Those of us who have attended school with Witteman are not surprised to hear that this genial gentleman was awarded this honor, but those who are not familiar with our Horway need only peruse his four-year record at Saint Mary's. They then will know why he is the only student to ever graduate from this College as the recipient of four of the highest awards that can be awarded to any undergraduate. It might also be interesting to note that Witteman is not receiving the other meritorious award, the Cottle Medal, simply because he won it in his sophomore year, thus making him ineligible to receive it again.

Witteman demonstrated his potentialities early in his collegiate career, winning the interclass debate tourney in his freshman year, an event which he duplicated in his senior year. Then in quick succession over a period of four years, Witteman managed to win the Cottle Oratorical Medal in 1940, the Oliver Essay Contest in 1942, place second twice in the Sullivan Oratorical Contest and be chosen as a member of the Saint Mary's Foch Debating Team for three years, winning the best speaker medal in his final year.

GAEL EDITOR

Not being content with devoting his extra-curricular activities to forensics, Witteman managed to take part in rado debating and speaking, write for the Collegian, edit the classical and ornate 1941 Gael, contribute to the Moraga Quarterly, the official academic publication of Saint Mary's College, submit articles to the now defunct Brickpile, take part in this year's

Joseph Picchi Re-Elected As Soph President

By a majority vote of his classmates, Joseph Picchi, freshman Guild scholarship winner from Saint Mary's College high school, was reelected president of the class of 1945. He was uncontested for the position.

Other officers elected to aid him in the coming academic year are Martin O'Connell, scholarship winner from Oakland, vice-president; Stanley Gilliam, debate and honor student from Sacramento, secretary-treasurer; and Aloyisius Weber, day student from Oakland, and Myles Quinn, boarder from Long Beach, executive-council representatives.

In the contest for the vice-presidency, O'Connell was opposed by John Foley, Joseph Ferem, and Frank Carrillo. Gilliam won a close victory over John Scanlon, the margin separating their scores being two votes. The other candidates for the office of secretary-treasurer were Bert Fanning and John Malone.

Weber and Quinn defeated Donald Brush, Remond Sabatte, Bertram Callen, and Thomas Dowd for the two executive council positions.

On last Tuesday evening, April 28, over sixty-five freshmen attended their class banquet at Bellini's restaurant in Oakland. Guests of the class at this social function were Brother Austin; president of the College; Brother Lucian, freshman class moderator; and Brother Patrick, dean of men.

Highlight of the banquet was the impromptu entertainment furnished by talented members of the class. Among those who entertained the class were John Scanlon, John Verutti, Frank Carrillo, John Foley, Senor Saghatelian, Stanley Gilliam, John Babich, Frank Roeder, Bert Callen, and Edward Benney.

Diamond Jubilee Class In Seventy-Ninth Exercise Sunday Afternoon, May 10

Three of thirty students to receive degrees on May 10 at Commencement exercises will graduate maxima cum laude. The three are Brother U. Cassian, Brother V. David, and Horway Witteman, all of the Arts and Letters school.

This graduating class is the Diamond Jubilee class, having entered Saint Mary's College as it was celebrating its seventy-fifth year of existence.

ARTS AND LETTERS

Sixteen will graduate from the Arts and Letters school, ten from the school of Economics and Business Adminsitration, and four from the school of Science. However, it is to be noted that graduation in all cases depends upon successful completion of final examinations for this semester.

ECON SCHOOL

The ten graduates of the school of Economics and Business Administration are: George John Arabian, San Francisco; John C. Clayworth, Berkeley; John Anthony Connolly, Oakland; Gerald Patrick Franey, Bakersfield; Raymond Francisco Henwood, San Francisco; William Joseph Kenney, Oakland; Harry Francis McLaughlin, Oakland; Ilo John Scatena, Bakersfield; Joseph Francis Troy, San Francisco; Andrew J. Franzoia, Sacramento. All these are from California.

Four students will graduate from the school of Science: Robert Anthony Brautovich, Oakland; William Ellsworth Maderious, Concord; James Boles Turre, Alemeda; all of California; and George F. Waldhaus, Flagstaff, Ariz.

Saint Mary's Grad Bequeaths $25,000

A special bequest of $25,000 dollars for the development and maintenance of athletic activities at Saint Mary's College is reported as listed in the will of Charles J. Hendry, owner of a San Francisco ship chandlery firm.

Hendry, a student in 1911 at St. Joseph's Academy in Berkeley, the present Saint Mary's High School, died on April 11 after a long illness, leaving more than a million dollar estate.

Caps and Gowns Parade Again At Graduation

One Lay Student, Two Student Brothers Leave With Honors

Flowing black robes and mortarboards, traditional apparel of graduation, will be the attire of thirty seniors who will receive their diplomas in the Quadrangle in front of the Chapel on Sunday, May 10.

One lay student, Horway Witteman, and two student brothers, Brother U. Cassian and Brother David, will graduate maxima cum laude. No other students will graduate with honors.

Among the seniors and undergraduates to receive special recognition at the ceremony will be Horway Witteman, who will receive the De LaSalle Medal, a gold emblem founded in memory of the late Mr. J. A. Graves of the class of 1872, for the highest record in scholarship and general excellence. Witteman will also receive the Mallon Medal. It is awarded anually in memory of the late Reverend Edward T. Mallon, C.S.P., to the senior who has the most meritorious four-year record in inter-collegiate debating.

COLLEGIAN MEDAL

The Collegian Medal, a gold emblem founded by a friend of the late Reverend Edward J. Doran of the class of 1879, will be given to George Farnham for exceptional work in journalism.

Brother U. Cassian will receive the Philosophy Medal, a gold medal founded by a friend in memory of the late Right Reverend Monsignor Michael D. Connolly of the class of 1878.

Martin Donnelly, freshman orator, will receive the William J. Fitzgerald, Jr., Medal in oratory. The medal was established by Wiliam J. Fitzgerald, Sr., '05, in memory of his late son, William J. Fitzgerald, Jr., 1940.

The winner of the Cottle medal, a gold medal founded by the late Reverend John E. Cottle of the class of 1877, will not be known until after the contest, which is scheduled for next Wednesday.

HONORARY AWARDS

Other awards, given to those with excellent records of achievements in special fields, will be received by Herbert Ellsworth Cory, Ph.D., Professor of Liberal Arts at the University of Washington, for his outstanding Catholic activities on the West Coast. Mr. Cory will receive the Moraga Crest.

The two honorary Doctor of Law awards will be given to His Exellency Duane G. Hunt, D.D., Bishop of Salt Lake City, and to John J. Van Nostrand, Ph.D., Professor of Ancient History at the University of California.

Valedictorian for the day will be Horway Witteman, senior honor student.

Mrs. Du Fosee SM Guild Pres.

Mrs. Charles du Fossee was elected as the new president of the Saint Mary's Guild at the last meeting of the group.

Serving with her for the coming year will be Mrs. Fred Lagomarsino, first vice-president; Mrs. William J. Ward, second vice-president; Mrs. Charles Sullivan, recording secretary; Mrs. Dennis Smith, treasurer; and Mrs. John Reardon, financial secretary.

The board of directors will be Mesdames Peter Haggerty, Frederick T. West, Michael L. O'Malley, John Murphy, Thomas Daly, Walter Green, William Fitzgerald, August Zipse, Josephine Welsh, and Sabina Nyland.

Installation will be conducted next month by Mrs. Gerald I. Hogan, chairman, and Mesdames William J. Ward, Frederick T. West, and Fred Lagomarsino.

Fye Chosen Kaysee Head

At a meeting of the Saint Mary's Chapter of the Knights of Columbus yesterday, the following business took place. Junior Donald Fye was elected Grand Knight to replace graduating senior, Paul Reginato. Grand Knight Fye and Robert Brautovich were appointed as delegates to the Society's State Convention at Long Beach, May 24, 25, 26. Bernard Wills and John Maffeo were named alternates.

Gael Debaters To Go On Tour If $$$ Come Rolling In; Will Meet Crack Teams Of Southland

Sophomore Speaker, Gallagher And Starrs, Scheduled To Make Trip To South In Absence Of Seniors

If the necessary funds materialize, Saint Mary's will tour the Southland in the person of the debate team, Eymard Gallagher, and Francis Starrs. Originally, Senior Horway Witteman was slatde to accompany Gallagher, but with the postponement of the tour for two weeks, Witteman was forced to withdraw, in favor of graduation. Sophomore Francis Starrs will take his place.

The trip is being delayed because of financial difficulties, arising from a deficiency in the eighty dollars necessary for its realization.

CLUB CONTRIBUTES

Brother Cyprian, debate moderator, has already received from the Contra Costa unit of the Saint Mary's Club, twenty-five dollars, and from Andrew Mott, Jr., ten dollars; but the acquisition of the remaining forty-five dollars, still remains a problem to him. The debate coach is almost certain, however, that the obstacle will be surmounted, and the debaters are expected to leave Monday, May 11, for Southern California.

Breaking precedent this year, they will tour the South in preference to the Northwest. The tour will include eleven debates, with seven days of debating.

TOPICS NAMED

The topics to be debated and discussed are as follows: "Resolved: That failure to enforce the Versaille Treaty caused the downfall of France." "Resolved: That the Democracies should form a union now to maintain the Roosevelt-Churchill eight points." "Resolved: That civil liberties should be rigidly curtailed in time of national crisis." the roundtable discussion topic, "The Papal Plan of World Peace."

The schedule of the debate tour is as follows: Monday evening, May 11, debate at Santa Barbara State. Tuesday morning, May 12—round table discussion at Saint Anthony's Seminary, Santa Barbara State. Wednesday afternoon, May 13—roundtable discussion at UCLA, Newman Club. Thursday evening, May 14, debate at UCLA. Friday afternoon, May 15, roundtable discussion at Mount Saint Mary's College. Friday evening, May 16, debate at Loyola. Saturday afternoon, May 17, roundtable discussion at Immaculate Heart College. Saturday evening, May 17, debate at Occidental College. Sunday, noon, May 18, debate with UCLA, at Saint Mary's Alumni luncheon. Sunday evening, May 18—debate at USC. Monday evening, May 18, debate at San Diego State.

Tom Twomey Appointed Director

New Position Is To Co-ordinate Student Military Matters

In order to co-ordinate military information for the campus and to enable the news to be announced more readily to the students, Brother Austin appointed Mr. Thomas Twomey, assistant recorder, as military information director.

In this connection as the institution V-1 representative and the college air force advisor, as well as handling Coast Guard and Marine Corps details, Twomey last week represented the college at the University of California in regards to the V-1 program. Also, on Monday he represented the college in the new Army Enlisted Air Corps Reserve.

OPPORTUNITIES OFFERED

In addition to the information that may be obtained at the recorder's office, the president's office has the full details of all the military matters, and will be glad to aid anyone who calls, says Twomey.

As a special aid to the students, "The War Service Opportunities for College and University Students," published by the American Council on Education, is available in the recorder's office. This information contains very detailed topics and advice on enlistment in all military services. This booklet should be consulted as soon as possible by those who are interested.

All pre-med and pre-dental students should check on the possibilities of obtaining a commission in the Navy. This classification is known as Class H-V (P) and more details may be found in the recorder's office.

C.T.A. SELECTS ALUMNUS

John F. Brady, '08, Chief Deputy Superintendent of the San Francisco Public Schools, was re-elected president of the California Teachers' Association for the fourth consecutive term by the Governing Council at its recent meeting.

Mr. Brady has long been active in professional organizations and teacher welfare work. For three terms he served as president of the San Francisco Teachers' Association, for one year as president of the Bay Section Council of the California Teachers' Association, and since 1927 has been a member of the S. F. City Retirement Board. For the past nine years he has been president of that body. At the present time he is also a member of the State Curriculum Commission.

Mr. Brady is indisputably one of the ablest school administrators and one of the leading educators in the State of California.

A MOTHER WRITES

Mrs. F. Kearney of Truckee, California, writes to tell that her son, Philip Kearney, '40, familiarly known as "Truckee," is with the U. S. Army in Australia. Phil enlisted in the Signal Corps of the Army last October, and did his training at Fort Lewis, Washington, before leaving for the Land Way Down Under.

ALUMNI HERE AND THERE

Tony Resetar, '3, is in the lettuce business in Watsonville . . . Bob McAndrews, '32, comes to San Francisco this next week to attend the official opening of the new NBC building in San Francisco. This is to be quite an event for both NBC and San Francisco. The latter will be the third city in the U. S. to be called "Swede" Anderson, former star a Radio City . . . Clarence Gael basketball guard, and now a teammate of Hank Luisetti on the Phillips Oilers five, was among those who attended the annual alumni Homecoming Day at the College . . . Lionel Holmes, '41, is now handling the night desk for the Oakland Tribune . . . Armond Demartini, '28, is now a member of the San Francisco School Department, and on the side edits the "Little City News," a North Beach weekly publication. In it he wrote what was considered the best article written on the counseling program in the San Francisco schools . . . Jack Purcell, '34, is another member of the San Francisco School Department. He is teaching days at Horace Mann Junior High, and in the evenings at Comerce Evening High School.

MORE RAMBLINGS

J. Irving Smith, '18, a former Phoenix catcher, is an inspector for the State Department of Public Health . . . John H. Tolan, Jr., student body prexy of 1933, has a post with the War Production Board in San Francisco. Before locating in San Francisco, Jack was in Washington, D. C., where he served as secretary to his father, Congressman John H. Tolan, Sr. . . . Joseph Kennedy, Jr., '33, is an advertising man for the firm of Lord & Thomas in San Francisco . . . Bob Hunt, '35, is a motorcycle officer on the Bay Bridge, to which position he was recently appointed . . . Pete Markovich, '32, is now working for Bethlehem Steel in San Francisco . . . Al McKeever, '35, is now teaching at Lowell High School in San Francisco. He is handling journalism . . . "Ike" Frankian, '29, up from his coaching position at Dos Palos High School, enjoyed Homecoming Day. Without a doubt the best end this coast has ever seen, and an all-American in that position, "Ike" seemed to be in just as good shape as when he was a stellar wingman for the Gaels.

BUNDLE WAS A PIANO

BOSTON. (U.P.)—When the Rev. Irving W. Bell found a large bundle in front of his church he called two policemen to investigate. Aipping off the paper wrappings, th emen found a full-size piano. The owner—or donor—has not been discovered.

Surveyors Start Work For Naval Building

Initial surveys were under way this week for construction of additional housing facilities behind the scholasticate at the foot of Mount Van. The new construction will be necessary to accommodate the overflow of cadets from the regular student dormitories when the Navy training program gets under way; the present buildings will be used, but they are not sufficiently large to take care of all the trainees.

It is probable that an extension will be added on to the library reading room to provide additional mess hall facilities for the two thousand cadets and officers to be on the campus. This structure will be to the south of the building.

Construction on these and other Navy projects will be undertaken very shortly, as soon as architects' plans can be approved.

A new dormitory for resident students will be undertaken after the more pressing needs of the cadet program are satisfied. There is no rush necessary in this matter, it is pointed out, since the autumn term will not begin until the middle of August.

ENTERS COLLEGE AT 75

PASADENA (U.P.)—Adolpting the motto, "It's never too late to help win the war," Tom Kealey, Sr., 75, entered Pasadena Junior College for training for a war job.

Saint Mary's Was To Be Radio School

An interesting sidelight of the entire Navy Training Base Plan was made known today when Mr. Twomey, assistant Recorder, announced that, if the Pre-Flight Training Plan had failed to materialize at this site, Saint Mary's College would then have been chosen as a radio training center under the direction of the Navy. This center is now located at Utah State College.

The use of Saint Mary's for this purpose was held in consideration for a long time, and during the period of early negotiations when much publicity was given to another coast institution about the pre-flight center, an officer in San Francisco who made the first inquiry concerning the use of Saint Mary's College to Mr. Twomey told him that the college was also recommended for the radio training center in case the first plan did not go through.

RADIO POSSIBILITIES

Lieut. - Commander R. L. Johnson, Naval Aviation Training Base at Oakland Airport, also brought attention to the fact that the radio school might be here.

"Last Saturday," said Twomey, "I had a conference with the San Francisco Naval Aviation Representative who began the entire project and he expressed himself as most pleased with the way the college authorities had handled the matter. He was particularly pleased with the silence which the college maintained as suggested by the Navy in spite of the pressure caused by the negotiations."

Just prior to Brother Austin's last visit to Washington to sign the contract, this officer offered some important advice which was most desirable at the time in connection with the final proceedings. He had been in Washington after Brother Austin's last visit and was able to comment very favorably on the final activities.

Navy Seeks Main Office

Now it will be the "Bridge" of the USS Saint Mary's.

Executive officers of the U. S. Navy are looking for officers on the campus of Saint Mary's College from which they can direct the mammoth training program soon to be under way.

Consideration is being given to the set of officers now occupied by the Alumni trophy room, the Post Office, and the athletic office. It is probable that these rooms will be the site of the necessary office.

If they are taken over by the Navy for this purpose, the section will be known as "The Bridge." Thus when the commanding officer is "in", he will be installed in a regular dry-land "bridge" just as if he were afloat, instead of miles from the nearest navigable water.

Gael Alumni Dinner Thursday To Honor Classes Of '92 And '42; Will Be Final Event Of Year

Three Jubilarians To Be Grad Guests At Annual Banquet; Wallace Grant To Give Address Of Welcome To Seniors

The final event of the year's program of the Alumni Association will be held Thursday evening at 7:00 o'clock at the Hotel Leamington, Oakland, at which time the classes of '02 and '42 will be honored guests at the annual dinner of the Association.

William J. McGuiness, '28, Oakland attorney, is chairman of the committee which is making arrangements for the event which will see the class of 1892, the golden jubilee class as special guests of honor and the class of 1942, the present graduating class, officially welcomed into membership.

THREE JUBILIARIANS

According to the records of the Alumni, there are three surviving graduates of the class of 1892: Charles B. Sexton, railroad executive of Palisades, Nevada and James E. Manning of Sanger, California. Dr. Thomas Barrett, of San Francisco, another member of the class, died suddenly last Monday.

The address of welcome to the class of '42 will be delivered by Wallace A. Grant, '23, a Civil Engineering graduate, now general superintendent of the Readymix Concrete Co. of San Francisco and President of the San Mateo County District of Catholic Action.

BROTHER AUSTIN SPEAKS

Brother Austin will speak in behalf of the faculty of the College, while William Pyne, president of the Senior Class, will respond for the men of '42. Other honored guests invited to the dinner are: Brother Jasper, provincial; Brother Henry, Moderator of the Alumni; Father Joseph Manning, student chaplain, and Coach Norman P. Strader.

Assisting Chairman McGuiness in plans for the dinner are President Raymond J. Arata, '28, Executive Director John F. Henning, '38, C. Wesley Davis, '28, James Martin, '02, Gerald Lawlor, '99, Frank Mott, '99, Joseph Cone Sr., '99, Edward Cone, '32, Timothy J. Canty, '23, J. Philip Meany, '28, Richard McGuiness, '27, J. Lloyd Barron, '21, Willard Murray, '35, John Bannister, '36, Louis B. De Avila, '11, Emmett Guisto, '16, William Perata, '32, Thomas Carter, '35, Edwin Tobin and Michael McGuiness, Jr.

Reservations for the dinner should be made with McGuiness at 562 Merrit Avenue, Oakland, phone, TEmplebar 0744.

Pedrazzi Is Newest Gael In Air Corps

The U. S. Navy pinned its "Wings of Gold" on George W. Pedrazzi, 23, Saint Mary's graduate of the class of 1941, this week and commissioned him as Ensign in the Naval Reserve.

After completing intensive flight training at the big Naval Air Station in Jacksonville, Florida. Pedrazzi is now prepared to take his place with the Navy's crack band of fighting airmen.

AT JACKSONVILLE

While at Jacksonville, he learned every phase of Naval eviation. Aside from his work in the air, he studied airplane parts and engines, communications and other courses in Ground School. In gunnery practice, he fired at plane-towed targets.

Before he was commissioned, Ensign Pedrazzi had to prove to the satisfaction of his instructors that he was a good military pilot as well as a skilled flier. This means, for one thing, that the mechanics of flying must not occupy all his attention while he is inthe air.

FROM HOLLISTER

The newly-ocmmissioned Ensign reported to Jacksonville last August after completing elimination training at the Naval Reserve Air Base at Long Beach, California.

Son of Mrs. E. C. Pedrazzi of Hollister, he graduated from Serra high school, Hollister, and received his B.A. degree from Saint Mary's College.

Gael Gossip

By

BILL FENERAN

Collegian Sports Editor

We have, in this, our last column of the year, the pleasant duty of reporting a final victory over that unscrupulous archfiend, Arthur "Nosegay" Cohn, sports editor of the Oakland Tribune.

As you may recall, AC vehemently declared, in his very best pidgin English, that Saint Mary's was "definitely" going to have to move, to give way to the USN. As you know, now, Cohn has been made a fool, but, as yet, has left his blitherings unexplained.

Unable to get the East Bay scribbler to cross telephone wires with us, last week we went over Archie's head, and did get a formal apology.

No less a dignitary than the City Editor of the Tribune expressed to us his personal sentiments on the matter, and further agreed to see to it that Cohn was reminded of his obligations.

Whether or not that worthy can get Cohn to sit down and type out a "Cohn-ing Tower" apology, we don't know. Cohn's not the dumbest egg in the world, even if he is the nerviest. But, this much satisfaction we now have, Cohn, the big-timer, has been reprimanded by his superiors, they have declared their desire to establish amicable relations with Saint Mary's, and Cohn, a thoroughly chastised "little-shot", has been conclusively put in his place.

We trust that there will be no more raves and rants from you, Artie, old son!

THE GRIDDERS: THEY COULD BE 'IT' . . .

Last week's Red vs. Blue game showed "Red" Strader, and the assembled throng of some 7,000, football potentialities galore. A tremendously fast and versatile backfield will be much in evidence, with the weakest spots being the guards and reserve tackles. But, if we know The Raider, and his material, those spots won't be weak long.

Best bets, for our centamos, were: Joe Ferem at quarterback; acknowledged the best field general . . . Morales, Verutti, Scanlon, Townsend, Declusin, Scully, Germaine, Russell; potential threats anywhere, any time. . . . Tony Compagno, found at fullback, Johnny Podesto, with injured paw, and Roy Giusti; who can play on our team any day. . . . Ray Curry, Tom Coll, Al Ratto, Billy McPartland, Jim Powers; bulwarks of the first club's line. . . . Frank Carrillo, Bill Zambresky, Moose Foley, Senor Saghatelian, Bill Bunn, Hod Keeter, Dick Harkins, Fred Neilson, Joe Suarez, Al Accornero, plus too many others to mention; outstanding or the many reserves . . . Backs and ends; strongest positions. . . . King of 'em all; Frank Medina. . . .

THE FACTS: MORAGA MEANDERINGS . . .

Speaking of Medina. He gets our vote, along with the Mayor, for a Block sweater, either from the Coaches, or preferably from the Block Society. By seniority, Mayor ranks first, but Frankie has more than earned his.

A sorehead is a guy who was in the wrong, but won't admit it! Down at the Oakland Ball Park, last week, an ex-local big-wig, turned sorehead, had his say about who should get credit for Naval occupation of Moraga. For your edification, that gent shouldn't. He had as much to do with Mr. Knox's boys moving in, as Victor Mature had to do with the cuffless trouser vogue. After this "folly" along the Bay sulphur beds, you can guess how much say that party would have, especially with the Navy. (Though his joint was a bit along floating lines.)

Our final congratulations to the basketball team for their splendid job of representing Saint Mary's—by far the high point of the past athletic year. Condolences to the football and baseball clubs. Heck, you can't win 'em all, gang. You played with all you had, and, after all, that's all we care about.

The grape-vine tells the story of Lt. Commander King of the USN, now in charge of the NAPS, here at Saint Mary's. Slated to graduate from Annapolis the day before the big crew meet in his senior year, Clyde King, athlete extraordinary, was granted retention until the CONCLUSION of the race.

Immediately after leading his crew to victory, no longer a member of the Naval Academy, King was tossed out bodily and forced to swim to shore, while the seven-man crew returned. Only Annapolis man ever to receive his honorary dismissal in the drink.

THE FINALE: THANKS AND SO LONG . . .

Thanks one and all for the help and cooperation during the past year. To Brothers Bernard, Cyprian, Vantasian; MistersTwomey, Strader, Kordick, Sheely, Conlan, Guisto, eFevre, et al, we owe a debt of gratitude. To our successor, best of luck; to our loyal staff, we couldn't have done it without you. So long; hope we'll see you next year.

Sport Slants

By JIM LORIGAN

No. 1 Campus Enthusiast, looks to be Cmd't. King, who was all repped up bout ol' buddy Red and his '42 footballers at the Spring Preview last Sunday. . . . He lives, sleeps and eats football all on acc't he was All-American for Navy back in '22. . . . His enthusiasm ought to roust all those newsmongers who were so positive that the Navy and Gael griddin' wouldn't mix. . . . An' we wonder how they liked the turnout of fans we had for the game, and especially for a team that wasn't to be next year. . . . Phooey!

The Red Rooster is really planning a campaign for next season, what with having those big confabs of prominent gridders and coaches in his office nearly every day. . . . Somebody told us that Bill McPartland was almost "non-compus-mentus" during the whole game last Sun. cause of a wallop on the noggin! . . .

We don't think that "Bruisin'" Declusin got as much menshun as he should 'cause he played a pip of a game. . . . D'jt ever notive that it is always the sophs that get hurt in these preseason scrimmages. . . . Experience still counts plenty. . .

This Navy of Occupation we have around here have a gab all their own. . . . It's "deck" for floor; "goin' ashore" for going to town; "omin' aboard" for coming to work; "squared away" for put in order, and "bridge" for arcade. . . . And it's all spontaneous, too. . . We see where Pressy Sullivan is still reluctant to admit that it isn't going to be too crowded around for both Gobs and Gaels. . . . You and the Commander ought to have a heart to heart talk, Sully old boy. . . .

Wasn't it a shame how Al Morris, cops! sorry, Tony Martin, had to hit the sheets for a week after taking the regulation Navy shot . . . . Wonder how it affected the boys in the Pacific Fleet. . . . Was just thinking what a wonderful plant we're going to have here when the Rising Sun sets back in Tokyo. 'Member that was how Stanford got it's big start. . . .

J'ever stop n' think . . .

What a swell bunch of fellows all Saint Mary's Men are. . . . That you never realize how much you love the place till you're going to leave. . . . How a Gael athlete feels as he plays his last game for Saint Mary's. . . . How a Gael in Uncle Sam's forces, stationed in Australia, would feel when he hears the "Hail, Saint Mary's, Hail," . . . You know, thoughts like that give ya a lump in the old throat. . . .

Last col'mn of the year . . . We hope we haven't buzzed too many people off . . . An' thanx to Tommy Twomey, who gave us a lot of swell dope during the past year, and to the Redhead who never refused us an audience in his inner sanctum, and to "Pops" Feneran for letting us run this dribble every week. . . . Bye for now and thirty. . . .

Football: Sag's Whites Edge Blues

Sophomore Gridders Star In Spring Practice Wind - Up

By ROY CORTOPASSI

A preview of the 1943 version of the Galloping Gaels was demonstrated by Norman "Red" Strader last Sunday in the annual Big Brother "Red and Blue" game.

The seventh annual tussle between the Blues and the Whites brought back the bark of the quarterback, the shrill blast of the referee's whistle, the excitement of the spectators, the color of the crowd, and other familiar noises and sights associated with football.

MORALES BOOTS POINT

Sparked by halfback Roy Giusti's passes, the Whites won the contest 7 to 6. Gonzales Morales' placekick was the margin of victory. In the second quarter, Giusti began pitching to Frank Carrillo and Laurin Declusin and finally a pass to the latter was good for twenty-seven yards and a touchdown. Morales' kick split the uprights for the seventh and winning point. Late in the third quarter the Blues began a drive which ended with Bud Townsend's touchdown gallop. Townsend's try for point went wide and the game ended without further scoring.

The game displayed a good brand of line play and passing attacks. The obvious reason for the lack of a good running attack was that the boys used the same plays and were, therefore, familiar with the opponent's ground work. However, several times substantial gains were ripped off through running plays.

The most amazing, confusing, and amusing play occurred in the third quarter when a Blue pass was intercepted and lateralled about by the Whites. It was impossible to tell who had the ball at any one time and it's still a mystery how the Blues finally solved the puzzle.

RED DISPLAYS IVORIES

The "Red Raider" was beaming with smiles after the game, and, as was seen, he had good reason to be happy. Prospects were bright and numerous as the fracas showed. Ray Curry played his usual stellar game and Tom "Hamsy" Coll turned in a good performance. However, one of the standout ends of the game was Frank Carillo who made several good catches of Giusti's passes. Tackles Bill McPartland and Jim Powers charged the White backs fiercely. Other bright spots at tackle were Bill Zambreski, Bill Bunn, and Fred Nielson. Guards John Foley and Peter Bellani played knockout ball; the latter in more ways than one.

Captain Senor Saghatelian, of the Whites, shone as a pivot man as did huge Al Ratto. Little Joe Ferem, who quarterbacked for both teams, was the outstanding signal caller of the day. Both outfits marched steadily while he worked as the "brain." Johnny Podesto was his usual sensational self and Giusti was even a little better.

The passing feud put on between Podesto and Giusti was really a humdinger. Such batteries as Podesto and Giusti, pitching, and Curry and Carrillo, catching, should prove very beneficial to the varsity come fall. Morales, Townsend, and "Jitterbug," Jack Verutti were also outstanding backs on the field. The latter had to retire in the third quarter due to a knee injury.

Tony Compagno displayed the old form which made him the sophomore sensation two years back; leading to the hope that this will be Tony's big year. These were the standouts which caught the eye and approval of the spectators and coaches alike. The performances of the following couldn't be overlooked either—Hod Keeter, Tony Bilotti, Dick Harkins, Laurin Declusin, Ed Russell, and Ray Ahlstrom.

THREE MEN KONKED

The game also gave trainer Frank Medina plenty of action. Many players were banged up but only three were serious. Quarterback Frank Callen saw little action due to an injured arm suffered in the first quarter. In the second quarter, halfback Jack Germaine left the game with a bad leg, and in the third period Verutti was helped off the field on a stretcher. The latter two are still hobbling around on crutches, while Callen carries him arm in a sling. Podesto had an injury to a finger on his pitchin' hand.

The large crowd of 7,000 which witnessed the game was well satisfied with the afternoon's performance. It cleansed the bad taste of the morning baseball fiasco with Santa Clara. Yes, it really looks as though Red Strader, Marty Kordick, and Joe Ruetz have something in the Galloping Gaels.

Former Phoenix First Baseman Gets Promotion

U. S. NAVAL AIR STATION, JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—Kenneth T. Sanders, former Galloping Gael football and baseball star, was commissioned an ensign in the Naval Reserve here this week.

Sanders is a former right halfback of Red Strader's, as well being the first baseman on last season's pennant winning Saint Mary's baseball team.

The newly commissioned ensign reported to Jacksonville last August after completing elimination training at the Naval Reserve Air Base in Oakland, Calif.

Werle, Vitalich, Pillette Form Squads Pitching Staff; California, USC And Santa Clara Each Place Three Players

By STAN RISCHARD

With Stanford the lone exception, every team was represented on the Collegian's All-CIBA baseball team for the past Spring year. USC, California and Santa Clara, finishing in that order in the Conference race, placed three men each on the thirteen man squad. UCLA's luckless Bruins and Saint Mary's disappointing Phoenix each were represented by two men.

RAY MAKES TEAM

Ray Henningsen, the only Phoenix sophomore who lived up to his expectations this year, was selected as the best second baseman in the league. A dependable hitter and a brilliant fielder, the Omaha, Nebraska, star was given preference over another great second baseman, Bill Mullins, of Santa Clara. Because of his ability to catch, fill in at third base, and roam in the outfield, aside from being a .400 hitter, Roy Giusti was added as a utility outfielder.

The pitchers chosen were Ed Vitalich of USC, a repeater from last year, Bill Werle of California and Duane Pillette of Santo Clara. Lynn Compton, UCLA's hard hitting catcher, was unanimously chosen for backstop duties.

CAL STAR CHOSEN

Jack Albright, undoubtedly one of the best shortstops ever produced by the CIBA, is the captain of the team. Completing the infield with Albright and Henningson are Bruce Konopka of USC at first base, and the veteran Santa Claran, Neil Reese at third base. Dewey Cruise of UCLA is the utility infielder.

HANDY MAN—Roy Giusti, Phoenix outfielder, catcher, and third baseman, who, along with Ray Heeningson, was chosen on the Collegian's ALL-CIBA team.

Bill Howerton Hits .500 To Lead Frosh Baseball Players

Although their season was not any too successful, the Saint Mary's Freshmen turned in a comparatively better record than their varsity brothers. The ledger shows them having compiled six wins against five losses, and one tie.

The highlight of the season was the Cal series, in which the Moraga yearlings won two out of three from the Cubs. When they met the first time, the Cal frosh had won twelve out of thirteen, while the freshmen had yet to see victory. Trailing in the ninth inning, the Gaelets exploded with a nine run barrage, for their biggest batting rally of the year, to come out on top 16 to 9.

SCANLON WINS TWO

The Cubs had their revenge in the second game, winning 14 to 4. But when the deciding game of the series came around, it was the Moragans who won, 7 to 6. John Scanlon pitched both victories over Cal.

In a two game series with Santa Clara's frosh, Saint Mary's met defeat both times. In the first meeting, nine Gael errors

Varsity Hits An Anemic .236; Giusti Leads Team With 22 Hits To Bat .367

Joseph Has Season's Only Homer; John Hooper's 5 Stolen Bases Top Phoenix; Ex-Freshman Players Flop Dismally

Paced by Roy Guisti, with an average of .367, the Saint Mary's Phoenix, as a unit, batted a dismal .236, which helps to account for their rather poor showing this season. Guisti not only topped the team in hitting averages, but also made the most hits, twenty-two. The other .300 hitters on the team are Van Quintana and Ray Henningson.

ONE HOME RUN

Top scoring honors must be shared by Quintana and Henningson, as they each crossed the platter twelve times. Ev Joseph, with a total of one (1), leads in the home run departments, as he was the only Gael to hit for the circuit the entire season. Hitting three triples was enough to gain top honors for Marv Granda in that division, while Johnny Hooper proved himself to be the speed merchant of the team, with five stolen bases. Guisti, Compagno and Stringer top the list of two-base hitters with a pair of doubles apiece.

YOUR COLLEGE CAN NOW HELP YOU BECOME A NAVAL OFFICER

Freshmen, Sophomores, 17 THRU 19. Enlist now! Stay in college! You may qualify for a Naval Commission on the sea or in the air.

Freshmen. Sophomores. Here's a challenge—and an opportunity! Your Navy needs trained men. Trained men to become Naval Officers! And your college is ready to give you that training now.

Here's New Navy Plan

If you're 17 and not yet 20, you enlist now as an Apprentice Seaman in the Naval Reserve. You then continue in college, including in your studies courses stressing physical training, mathematics and physics. After you successfully complete 1½ calendar years of college work, you will be given a classification test.

Aviation Officers

If you qualify by this test, you may volunteer to become a Naval Aviation Officer. In this case, you will be permitted to finish the second calendar year of college work before you start your training to become a Flying Officer.

However, at any time during this two-year period after you have reached your 18th birthday, you may, if you so desire, take the prescribed examination for Aviation Officer . . . and, if successful, be assigned for Aviation training. Students who fail in their college courses, or who withdraw from college, will also have the privilege of taking the Aviation examination.

Deck or Engineering Officers

If you qualify in the classification test and do not volunteer for Aviation, you will be selected for training as a Deck or Engineering Officer. In that case, you will continue your college program until you receive your bachelor's degree, provided you maintain the established university standards.

Other Opportunities

If you do not qualify as either potential Aviation Officer or as potential Deck or Engineering Officer you will be permitted to finish your second calendar year of college and will then be ordered to active duty as Apprentice Seamen. But, even in this event, because of your college training, you will have a better chance for advancement.

Pay starts with active duty.

It's a real challenge! It's a real opportunity! Make every minute count by doing something about this new Navy plan today.

Human Interest Story Revealed In Last Homecoming Day By Will Stevens, Writer And Grad

Memories Of Former Classmates Recalled By Newspaper Editor While Visiting Alma Mater On Annual Alumni Homecoming Day

By WILL STEVENS, '32

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This an article which appeared in the Vallejo Times Herald on April 19, 1942. It was written by Will Stevens, a graduate with the class of 1932. The author is managing editor of the newspaper, and is also the composer of "On To Victory" and "Hail Saint Mary's Hall," the official school songs. We have taken the liberty to present the article in its entirety).

Another Saint Mary's College Homecoming . . . 1942 . . . It was ten years ago, almost to the Sunday, that we stood on the steps of the Chapel and watched the crowd of our cap-and-gowned friends break up and slowly disappear . . . Slowly, very slowly, they strolled away in every direction, and we thought at the time: "They're heading toward the four corners of the earth . . . Big, rugged, gallant Toby Hunt, the football captain who ten years later would be flying a Navy bomber from an aircraft carrier Somewhere in the Pacific . . . Little "Frenchy," who would go back to France to understudy his father and take over all those vineyards and wineries, a young millionaire who ten years later—when the Germans came—was to die rather than become a slave . . . Quiet, scholarly Elmer Preston, thin wingman, whose work was to carry him into the jungles of Java, and Sumatra, and Borneo, to escape before the Jape came.

GRADUATE — Robert McAndrews, prominent Gael Alumnus, who is now in charge of NBC production on the West Coast. He is mentioned in the human interest story which Will Stevens, editor of the Vallejo junction with the annual Times Herald, wrote in connection with the Homecoming Day.

EL PADRE

Ed Moss, who would be the Reverend Father Edmund Moss, living faithful to his ideals in the last acre of sanity left to the world ten years later . . . Al Morris, who would become Tony Martin, with a voice known to millions, a chief petty officer in the U. S. Navy . . . Darrell Conrad, whose brilliance burned with a fiery flame, one day to make the great decision and get away from it all, become a recluse in the Canadian woods —in a world he could respect . . . Bob McAndrews, who would struggle years, a nameless radio voice on ham programs, and then at last find—in thirty seconds—his big chance, and become one of NBC's most important coast executives . . . "South-Am," the pretty boy from Argentina, whose rugged fists tore holes in the heavyweights, ten years later to become one of his country's outstanding artists.

CHOP STICKS

"Little Chop Sticks," who used to argue that some day America and China would be a common allies against Japan, who took all the post-graduate courses he could find in military tactics, the little Chinese kid with the eternal grin, today Somewhere in China on the staff of Chiang Kai-Shek.

One by one, they had gone . . . and then we had strolled out past Lake LaSalle and the football field and Justin Grove, in the late afternoon sunshine, and found the shrine under the oaks.

END OF TRAIL

The end of one trail . . . the beginning of another—a long, long trail . . . April, 1942, was a fantastic date in a fantastic future . . . As the sunlight crept through the trees and for a few moments fell on the shrine, we thought "Nothing must ever be really important except Faith . . . and courage . . . and justice . . . and an all-abiding love of this good American earth, so black, so rich, so sweet . . ."

On the way back, we saw a hawk diving after a sparrow . . . the hawk came closer and closer, and then crumpled as a shot rang out, the report echoing through the hills behind the campus . . . Some undergraduate, unimpressed with the Commencement Day of others, had been out hunting, and had seen the race . . . "Devil of a good shot," we thought at the time, and thought how typical it was of the Saint Mary's we know then, the Saint Mary's that always remained in our heart . . . doing the thing that couldn't be done . . . hitting a diving hawk with one shot when you didn't have a chance . . . helping the little guys who couldn't fight back . . . always taking a chance and always winning . . . fighting the fight of the Little People against the Big People . . .

ALL OVER

The sun was falling, and when we reached the arcade and finally the Chapel again, they were all gone, Toby and "Frenchy" and "Little Chop Sticks" and Ed and Darrell and Bob and all the others, their parents, their friends, and only the empty commencement platform and all the empty chairs remained, looking very silly, and very empty, and very desolate . . .

Through the dusk, far to the northern fringe of the campus, the Sacramento Northern train came rolling along, like a ridiculous Toonerville trolley puffing out its false importance in stupid little chugs signifying nothing . . . It halted at the station, and then in a new outburst of energy, went puffing and chugging on its ridiculous way toward the sunset . . .

THE ANGELUS

In the Brothers' chapel, the Angelus sounded, and in a little while the stars were out, and the crickets were chirping and the frogs croaking but all else was silent across the campus . . . and only then did we leave . . .

"Ten years from this day . . ."

And now, almost as swiftly as the stars followed the Angelus, it seems, this is Homecoming Day, 1942 . . . ten years lateer . . . and some of the old faces will not be there, but only memories.

Photography To Be Given As A Course

New Study May Be Taught Next Semester

Organized instruction in advanced photography may be an added asset to Saint Mary's students next semester if present plans by Brother Julius and Brother Alvin, faculty camera enthusiasts, can be brought to realization.

The one great obstacle to the plan is lack of equipment, said Brother Julius this week, and at this time it appears that the only way to secure the necessary materials for a suitable photography laboratory is to have interested students secure it themselves. Students, alumni and friends who have old or unused photography equipment such as enlargers, darkroom materials, etc., would bestow a great favor on the College by donating these things, said Brother Julius.

Likewise, instruction could be improved and extra activity in foreign language work by new radio and phonograph methods of teaching could be made available, if the language department could obtain a radio phonograph combination at the present time, said Brother Julius.

Six Orators In Cottle Contest Tues.

Six leading campus orators will compete Tuesday evening in LaSalle Lounge in an effort to garner honors in the thirty-ninth annual Reverend John E. Cottle Memorial Oratorical Contest.

The winner of the Cottle contest, the oldest speech event of its kind at bay region colleges, will be awarded the Cottle Medal at the commencement exercises, May 10. The name of the winner will also be engraved on the Cottle Plaque in LaSalle Lounge.

Equaled in scholastic importance only by the De LaSalle medal for erudite achievement, the Cottle medal has always been considered the highest speech award conferred by Saint Mary's College.

Milo Mackin, '43, editor of the 1942 Gael, debate manager and contestant in the 1940 and 191 contests will speak on the topic, "Christ or Chaos."

Eymard Gallagher, '44, runner-up in last year's contest and varsity debater, will treat the subject "To Be Found—God."

Adolph Bamberger, '44, prominent orator at University of Santa Clara last year and a newcomer to the campus, will discuss "What Price Security."

Two students for the priesthood in the Dominican Order, members of the freshman class and winners of first and second places in last week's William J. Fitzgerald, Jr., Contest in freshman oratory will also compete. They are Martin Donnelly and James Lindland.

Donnelly will orate on a "One-Point Peace Plan." Lindland, prominent in dramatics at Saint Mary's, will talk on the topic "Christ or War." Donnolly hails from St. James High in San Francisco; Lindland is a graduate of St. Ignatius High in the same city.

ALUMNI JUDGE

Final contestant is Bertram Callen star of the 1942 Saint Mary's College Passion Play, "The Upper Room," Collegian scribe and winner of third place in the Fitzgerald Contest.

Callen, a graduate of Saint Peter's High of San Francisco, will discuss the "Triumphs of a Victorious Peace."

Five prominent alumni winners of the Cottle Medal will act as judges.

Open Dates For College Announced

School To Start On Monday, August 17; Classes Begin Wed.

Opening dates for the autumn semester at Saint Mary's College were announced this week by the office of the recorder.

Registration of new students and lower division men is scheduled for Monday, August 17, while registration for the upper division will be conducted on Tuesday, August 18.

Both upper and lower division classes will be in session at 8 a. m. Wednesday, August 19, and attendance will be counted from and including this date.

LATE REGISTRATION

In this regard, Mr. Thomas Twomey, assistant recorder, directs the attention of all students to Faculty Regulation 13. "Attendance shall be counted from the opening of classes. In the case of late registration, the student will be held responsible . . . for the classes missed."

"If it is necessary to make any changes in these plans," Mr. Twomey continued, "students will be notified in time, and they are warned to pay no attention to any rumors concerning the college and the opening date, unless they receive an official, written notice from the administration."

Jubilarian Succumbs

Dr. Thomas F. Barrett of San Francisco, a graduate of the class of 1892 and thus one of the alumni in the golden jubilee class to be honored at the alumni diner next Thursday, died suddenly in San Francisco last Monday.

Only last Sunday evening, John Henning, '38, executive director of the Alumni Association, talked to Dr. Barrett on the telephone with regard to the annual dinner of the alumni and Dr. Barrett said that he would make every effort to attend.

Invasion By Navy Started This Week

Bedding Stored In Gym; Commander Arrived Thursday

Praising the co-operative and friendly spirit on the Saint Mary's campus, Lieutenant Commander Clyde King, Annapolis '22, executive officer for the Navy on the campus, revealed late this week that preliminary arrangements for the naval occupation of Saint Mary's are now under way.

Seven carloads of bedding and equipment have already been unloaded by the first contingent of officers to arrive on the campus. The bedding and equipment is at present stored in the college gymnasium.

250 INSTRUCTORS

According to King, the faculty of the pre-flight school will be staffed by 250 officers who will live off the campus. Many of these instructors are now undergoing an indoctrination course at Annapolis.

Contrary to many preconceived notions, the pre-flight training will include both a complete physical and educational training. The physical education part of the program is only a part.

It was revealed that a contingent of 625 cadets will commence the training every three months until the total enrollment of the school will reach 1,875 men. At the end of six months the first class will graduate and the graduate cadets will undergo further training at Jacksonville.

The latter training is also six months and the cadets who successfully complete this training will be commissioned ensigns in the Navy or second lieutenants in the Marine Corps.

PASSES FOR STUDENTS

When formal control is assumed by the Navy a security watch will be maintained and passage to and from the campus will be permitted only by pass. King did not reveal what ar-

Eleven Galloping Gael Athletes Will Receive Their Diplomas On Sun. May 10

By BILL KENNERLEY

Eleven graduating senior athletes have played their last game for the Red and Blue. These men, whose faces have been familiar on Gael teams for the past three years, have all given outstanding performances for their Alma Mater, and their names will long be remembered.

Members of the class of '42 on the football team are George Arabian, Mel Carpenter, Ray Clemons, Owen Henson, Brad Sheafe, and Paul Reginato.

GENERAL GEORGE

Arabian, besides quarterbacking on the gridiron, assumed duties as freshman basketball coach in his senior year. His outstanding football mind led the Gaels through many tight spots, and brought them out on top more often than not.

Mel Carpenter, was one of the important men "behind the scene." Always hustling, Mel was always ready to step into the fray and spell one of the guards or the center.

GAEL LINEMAN

Ray Clemons, although seldom making the headlines, was one of the vital cogs in the Gael offense. The backfield men carry the ball, but were it not for guards like Clemons to open the holes, there would be no place to run. Besides being an exceptionally fine blocker, Clemons was one of the best men on defense.

Brad Sheafe will be remembered as one of the best centers to ever wear a Gael uniform. He not only was captain on the 1942 varsity, but starred on the All-Star West team in the East-West Shrine game. His defensive line backing throughout the season was flawless.

Owen Henson played an outstanding game at tackle; was one of the best in the Bay Area. It was very seldom that opposing fullbacks could gain through "Big O's" position.

Paul Reginato was a fine reserve end for two years. In his senior year, he became first string, until he became hampered by injuries. Were it not for a tough break, Paul was a promising star.

"BUB" BOYLE—Captain of the highy successful 1942 Saint Mary's basketball team which won 20 and lost 5 games.

"BUB" BOYLE

Frank Boyle was the only senior on the basketball team. A sparkplug for two years, he was unanimous choice for team captain in his senior year. Always a hustler, Frankie inspired his team mates into turning in one of the greatest records ever made by a Saint Mary's basketball team.

Charlie Mori, Phoenix pitcher for three years, was one of the chief reasons the Phoenix copped the CIBA pennant in 1940 and 1941. In his junior, he compiled one of the best pitching records in the league, and was selected for the CIBA all-star team. It was only the failure of a weak-hitting team that did not give Charlie adequate support, that prevented him from repeating his great diamond performances of last year.

Harry McLaughlin, although a member of the championship baseball teams of 40 and 41, did not participate in his senior year. As a sophomore, he played the role of utility outfielder, and in his junior year turned in his share of victories as a pitcher.

NOW—FOR COLLEGE MEN—A NEW OFFICERS' TRAINING PLAN

★ New Deferred Service Plan Allows You to Continue Your Education ★

In the skies over America the mightiest air fleet in the history of the world is mobilizing for victory!

So fast is it growing that there is a place here — an urgent need here — for every college man in America who can qualify for Officer's Training.

The U. S. Army Air Forces need Flying Officers and Ground Crew Officers. And many of them must come from the ranks of today's college students — men who make their plans now for the necessary Aviation Cadet training.

Thanks to a newly created Air Force Reserve plan, men of all classes — aged 18 to 26, inclusive — can enlist for immediate service or continue the scholastic work required for graduation before being called to active duty.

You must meet the requirements for physical fitness, of course. In addition, you take a new simplified test to determine your ability to grasp the training. A college man should pass it easily.

$75 A MONTH DURING TRAINING

Those accepted who wish immediate duty will go into training as rapidly as facilities permit. As an Aviation Cadet, you are paid $75 a month, with subsistence, quarters, medical care, uniforms, equipment.

In 8 months you can win an officer's commission as a bombardier, navigator or pilot — and be well started on your way to serve America and advance yourself in aviation.

Three Enlistment Plans for College Men

Juniors—Sophomores—Freshmen May Continue Their Education

1. A new plan allows Juniors, Sophomores and Freshmen, aged 18 to 26, inclusive, to enlist in the Air Force Enlisted Reserve and continue their schooling, provided they maintain satisfactory scholastic standings.

All College Men May Enlist for Immediate Service

2. All college students may enlist as privates in the Army Air Forces (unassigned) and serve there until their turns come for Aviation Cadet training.

3. All college students may enlist in the Air Force Enlisted Reserve and wait until ordered to report for Aviation Cadet training.

Upon graduation or withdrawal from college, men will be assigned to active duty at a training center as facilities become available.

If the necessity of war demands, the deferred status in the Army Reserve may be terminated at any time by the Secretary of War.

The new Army Air Force Enlisted Reserve Plan is part of an over-all Army Enlisted Reserve Corps program shortly to be announced. This program will provide opportunities for college men to enlist in other branches of the Army on a deferred basis and to continue their education through graduation if a satisfactory standard of work is maintained. In case of necessity the Secretary of War shall determine when they may be called to active duty.

It is understood that men so enlisted will have the opportunity of competing for vacancies in officer's candidate schools.

This plan has been approved in the belief that continuance of education will develop capacities for leadership. (Reserve enlistment will not alter regulations regarding established R.O.T.C. plans.)

MANY BRANCHES OF SERVICE

There are also commissions awarded in ground crew service. College men particularly will be interested in the requirements for Armaments, Communications, Engineering, Meteorology, Photography. If you have engineering experience your chances of getting a commission are excellent.

As a Second Lieutenant on active duty with the Army Air Forces, your pay ranges from $183 to $245 a month.

ACT AT ONCE

If you want to fight for America, this is where your blows will count.

If you want the best training in the world, and years of solid achievement in aviation— the great career field of the future — this is where you belong. Your place is here—in the Army Air Forces.

If you plan to enlist immediately, start getting your necessary papers ready for the Aviation Cadet Examining Board when it meets in your locality. For complete information, see your Faculty Air Force Advisor. You can take your mental and physical examinations the same day you apply. Get further information now.

NOTE: If you wish to enlist and are under 21, you will need your parents' or guardian's consent. Birth certificates and three letters of recommendation will be required of all applicants. Obtain the forms and send them home today—you can then complete your enlistment before any Aviation Cadet Examining Board.

1942-43 "Great Books" List Announced

Great Books Course Reaches Time Of Christ; Bible Will Be First Book Read Next Semester

Others To Be Read Are St. Augustine's "Confessions", A. Kempis' "Imitation", And Aquinas' "Governance Of Rulers"

The Great Books course, a four semester study of world literature, will definitely continue at Saint Mary's, and this was made more certain by the announcement this week of the list of the books to be studied in the next two semesters.

In the past two semesters, the course has followed the works of representative authors from the ancient era up to the time of Christ. The fall and spring semester in 1942-43 will deal with books from the time of Christ up to the early modern era.

OLD TESTMENT

The first book to be discussed in the coming half-year is the Old Testament. Selections taken from it are as follows: "Psalms," "Book of Wisdom," and "Daniel."

The New Testament will follow this, with the following taken from it for study: the Gospels of Mark, and those of John; and the Acts of the Apostles.

Saint Augustine will come under consideration in his works "Confessions," and "The City of God." Thomas A. Kempis's "Imitation of Christ," will conclude the work for the fall semester.

The spring semester will be a study of the theory of rulers as it has developed since medieval times. The change in attitude of the ruling class towards the people they govern since that time will also be discussed.

THOMAS AQUINAS

"The Governance of Rulers," by Saint Thomas Aquinas, will be the first book to be studied after Christmas. This work reflects the Christmas ideal of rulers as it was found in the thirteenth century in the works of the great doctor of the Church," Professor Hagerty announced.

Thomas Malory in his "Morte d'Arthur" gives the conception of the ideal prince or ruler from the human standpoint, in regard to benevolence, personal bravery, etc. This book will follow the work of Saint Thomas.

"The Prince," by Machiavelli, presents the humanistic viewpoint as taken by so many rulers, that the way to succeed in government is to rule by force and treachery."

ST. THOMAS MORE

After Machiavelli, the effect of no rule at all will be studied in Saint Thomas More's "Utopia," which is a tale of life in an imaginary nowhere-land without any ruling class.

Finally in the spring semester, Erasmus' "Praise of Folly" will be taken under consideration by the class, as an example of the effects of all the preceding theories.

Professor Hagerty, who announced the list of books for the course, pointed out that the course, of which he has charge, is open to all students. If anyone is interested in taking the course, either for credit or not, they are requested to see Professor Hagerty before school ends, if possible, or at least as soon as school reopens in the fall.

FIRST MARINE LT.—Lieutenant Lawrence J. Moser, graduate of Saint Mary's College, who became the first Gael to receive a commission in the Marine Corps. He attended the Marine school in Quantico, Virginia and will go on active duty.

Gael Seniors Leave For Quantico, Va.

Sheafe, Reginato, Kenny Are Latest Students To Enlist

This week three more seniors leave Saint Mary's for the Marine Corps Officers' Training Base at Quantico, Virginia. These newest additions to Saint Mary's long list of fighters are Paul Reginato, Harry McLaughlin and William Kenney.

Reginato was the leader of the campus K. C. and played end on the football team. McLaughlin was secretary of the student body and pitched for the '41 Phoenix, Kenney was a day student, majoring in economics.

SHEAFE LEAVES

These students enrolled in the campus Marine Corps Officer Training Plan as undergraduates and were allowed to finish their course of studies. Many other students have enrolled in this program and will be called when they have completed their education.

Brad Sheafe, star center of the football team, will leave sometime this week for the Navy's Physical Education Training Base at Norfolk, Virginia. Mel Carpenter, another former grider, is already at the Norfolk base.

DOGS SUBSIDIZE LIBRARY

ROWLEY, Mass. (U.P.)— Library trustees have a novel method of obtaining best-selling fiction. All taxes paid on dogs in the town are turned over to the library purchasing agent to buy books.

Alumni Warned On Transcripts

Alumni who need transcripts for military or other purposes are reminded that they must make formal application more than one week before they are needed. The recorder's office asks your co-operation in this due to the unprecedented requests for these documents.

At the present time due to the final examinations, graduation and the influx of Navy personnel, delays of at least two weeks must be expected. This situation will continue until at least June 1 because the annual scholastic reports are made up and mailed out in the latter part of May. During this period also, considerable time must be given to the Navy offciials who are arriving and setting up their offices.

Please pass this information along to the other members of the alumni who may be needing transcripts during this period.

Also note that a dollar must be received before the transcript is sent out. This fee is made for every transcript after the initial one, which is given free of charge.

Gaels Serve: Almost Two Hundred Saint Mary's Grads In Armed Forces

In addition to surrendering to the U. S. Navy its halls and classrooms, Saint Mary's College boasts of approximately 200 graduates and former students serving in the armed forces both at home and abroad.

According to the office of the recorder the following are in the ranks of the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps:

We Quit! Now, Too!

Nobody would write it.

Nobody would read it anyway.

So if you had planned on waiting around 'till next Friday at noon to see the Collegian come out, you are hereby notified that you are wasting your time.

Since writers, like normal students, have to have examinations, there just won't be any Collegian next week. Sad but true.

Anyway, the Collegian staff wishes all a happy and prosperous vacation period, and bids you adieu until the next issue, on August 21.

New Military Opportunities For Students

Navy and Army Both Give Students Leads

The Recorder's Office wishes to call attention to the forthcoming examination for entrance to the Coast Guard Academy at New London, Connecticut. The competitive examination will take place on May 13 and will require a knowledge of engineering subjects.

Age requirements extend from 17 to 22 inclusive. Those who pass the test satisfactorily will be admitted to the Academy, and upon the completion of the course of study, they will be commissioned as Ensign in the United States Coast Guard.

For further information, one can write to Commandant, Coast Guard, Washington, D. C., or inquire at the Recorder's Office from Mr. Thomas Twomey.

V-1 OR V-7

All Freshmen and Sophomores should act at once for enlistment in the Accredited College Program, Class V-1, United States Naval Reserve!

If the student passes the general comprehensive examination given in the spring semester of the Sophomore year, he may continue to finish his college program in Class V-7, if he chooses, or he may turn to the Aviation Class V-5.

Commissions will be given to the successful candidates in both classes. It should be noted by those who fail to pass the test and thus are called as apprentice seamen will be allowed to finish their second year before entering the Navy. It should also be noted that opportunities for petty officership are very excellent for those who fail in the test.

REQUIREMENTS

Requirements for enlistment are that the person be 17-18 inclusive and that his college study program include a year of college mathematics and physics.

It is important to note that present Sophomores will not be required to take the comprehensive examination until March, 1943. Thus, they will be assured of completing their junior year.

Additional details may be secured now and at any time during the summer from Mr. Twomey in the Recorder's Office, or from your nearest Naval Recruiting Station.

1942 SPRING SEMESTER EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

IMPORTANT: All examinations will be held in the regular class rooms except as noted on the bulletin boards . Due to conflicts caused by the overlapping of the two-hour examination periods certain room changes will be posted on the bulletin boards and on class room doors. The Lower Division examinations will be held in the regular class rooms.

Lawrence Moser Becomes First Gael Marine Lt.

Earns Commission At Quantico, Va.; Goes On Active Duty

The name of a Saint Mary's graduate of the Class of May, 1941, has been added to the roster of Marine Corps officer personnel with the graduation from Officer Candidates' Class at Quantico, Virginia, of Lawrence J. Moser, who this week was awarded his commission as a Second Lieutenant in the "Leathernecks."

Slated for three months additional training in the Officer's School, the former Saint Mary's student will now learn the duties of a platoon commander preparatory to being assigned to active duty with a combat unit or study in a specialized school.

Lieutenant Moser joined the Marines under the new officer training program for college graduates. Sent to the Candidates' Class at Quantico, Moser, together with some three hundred other college graduates from all parts of the country, underwent a stiff ten-weeks' course in military tactics and the use of the rifle, pistol, machine gun and other infantry weapons. Graduation brought him his commission.

The young officer received his Saint Mary's B.S. degree in economics and business administration. His home is at 5468 Shafter Ave., Oakland.

Invasion By Navy Starts

rangement will be made with the college authorities for the entrance and departure of students, but he said that in all probability passes would be issued to individual students.

"One thing is certain," the commander announced, "there will be no embarrassing line drawn between the cadets and the students of the college. In all the relations between the college and the pre-flight school a spirit of co-operation will prevail."

STUDENT EMPLOYMENT

"No doubt there will be greater opportunities for Saint Mary's students to earn part of their college expenses next semester, but the extent of such opportunities will depend on the college administration," King added.

The Brothers will act as sole administrators of the college and will also supervise the commissary and the ground maintenance department of the preflight school.

The buildings to be erected for the use of the student body will be paid for by the college and the Navy will pay for the use of present college facilities on a rental basis. The new dormitory for students will be erected on the high ground between the powerhouse and Lake LaSalle.

Both cadets and the students of the college will share the classrooms and the dining hall facilities. King gave assurance that these facilities could well accommodate the students and the cadets.

"Those of us placed in charge of operations on the Saint Mary's campus are convinced of the excellent judgment of the Navy Department in selecting your college for pre-flight training," King stated. "We feel this way because of the co-operation of Brother Austin, Brother Lucius and all the other Brothers on the campus.

Senior Week: Picnic Will Open Week's Activities; Retreat Starts Monday

With the class picnic and outing at Tilden Park on May 2, Senior Week will commence and continue until final graduation ceremonies on May 10.

Sunday, May 3, will be Open House Day on the campus, when the senior high school students and their parents will be the guests of the Senior Class.

SENIOR RETREAT

The Annual Senior Retreat, which will be conducted this year by Rev. William Butler, will last from Monday through Thursday. On the final night of the retreat, the Seniors will be feted by the Saint Mary's College Alumni Association at one of the larger hotels in the Bay Area.

On Friday, May 4, the class will listen to several lectures on the campus. The first will be a talk on Catholic Action and will take place after Mass in the chapel. Later in the afternoon they will be addressed by a member of one of the service branches of the United States who will discuss the civic duties of the citizen.

The Senior Ball, one of the lighter parts of the week, will be held in the campus dining hall on Friday evening. The following day, the Seniors will be the hosts of their parents and will provide some form of entertainment in the lounge after dinner.

The final day of graduation will begin with Mass and Communion in the main chapel. After breakfast the Seniors will make their pilgrimage in a body, a tour of all the principle landmarks of the College. In the afternoon of Sunday, May 10, the commencement exercises will be held in front of the chapel.

Witteman Receives La Salle Medal

Passion Play and write articles for several of San Francisco's leading newspapers.

Oh, yes! To show that he is not a bookworm, Horway was one of the star players on Saint Mary's tennis teams, being elected captain of the squad in his senior year. On the side, he was chairman of the Press Convention, member of the Alpha Phi Gamma Upsilon Honor Society, the International Relations Club, representative of the Executive Council and even managed to give Jack Beck a close run in last year's presidential race.

DEBATES PRISONERS

To read these accomplishments, one would suspect that Horway is a giant Cyclop who runs around the campus tearing his hair. No, Witteman is quite a nice looking chap, having straight brown hair, a pair of twinkling brown eyes, which are occasionally focused behind a pair of rimless glasses. He is of medium stature and possesses a smooth but athletic grace in his gait. His skin has been bronzed by several summers on the southern beaches, thus tending to hide the pleasant dimples which are formed when he reveals a teethy smile. He is a jovial yet serious lad by nature, being conscientious in his studies and assiduous in his entertainment and athletics. His sarcasm and outspokenness are the envy and dread of our most prominent debaters, including the prisoners of San Quentin, whom he astounded when he represented Saint Mary's against their crack team, composed chiefly of lawyers and doctors of philosophy.

We almost forgot to mention that "our Horway" hails from Alhambra, which is sixteen miles from southern Iowa (Los Angeles to most folks.., where he attended Cathedral High School.

WRITING IS LOVE

Writing is Witteman's first love and he attempts to do as much of it as his career will permit. Besides writing, Witteman is one of the campus' finest connoisseurs of paintings and finer arts, being an ardent lover of good music. Photography also occupies a great amount of his time. He did most of the photographic work for his Gael last year.

When queried as to his future plans after graduation, Witteman gave several answers, one of which was to return to his loved home "to sit and wait for Uncle Sam to call me."

"Seriously, though," he concluded, "I am enrolled in the V-7 course at Saint Mary's at present. After graduation, I shall return home to work in my father's manufacturing concern, taking some special summer courses at one of the southern time comes, I shall go to Northwestern or Columbia university to complete the V-7 course and to become an ensign in the U. S. Navy."

TO STUDY LAW

Witteman revealed that he intended to study either la wor medicine after his hitch in the Navy, probably the former. The Catholic University of America is the school which he has chosen to attend. He hopes to receive a fellowship there so that he might continue his studies in jurisprudence.

At Saint Mary's, Horway is splitting a major in English and philosophy, while he is minoring in German and history. Social life has not been entirely neglected by Witteman, and he has been an ardent supporter of all school functions and even of some of the bay area women's colleges activities.

SOCIALITE, TOO

"I really enjoyed my four years at Saint Mary's," concluded this child prodigy, "and I'm going to miss the college a lot."

With these parting words, Witteman blew another smoke ring into the air, and this reporter surreptiously left the room, awed by the achievements of this medal winner. Thus, the De LaSalle medal this year goes to one of the most worthy students that has ever attended Saint Marys College, a student active in every cultural and educational, athletic and social function sponsored by this college, and a true Catholic gentleman, Horway Witteman.

SENIOR LEADER — John Clayworth, senior student, who is in charge of the Senior week arrangements. He is assisting Pyne and Russel in preparing a calendar of activities for this week's senior activities.

Intercollegiate Radio Forum In Finale May 31

Superintendent of S. F. Mails Appears As Sunday Speaker

May 31 rings down the curtain on the Saint Mary's College originated and produced "Intercollegiate Forum," which will complete its thirty-second broadcast of the 1941-1942 series over KFRC, Mutual-Don Lee outlet for San Francisco.

Organized last fall by Brother Cyprian, local speech moderator, and produced by him each week, "Intercollegiate Forum" was the first successful co-operative project ever attempted by all Northern California colleges and universities.

128 STUDENTS PARTICIPATED

By May 31, one hundred and twenty-eight students from eleven colleges will have appeared on the program which became a full half-hour show last Sunday afternoon at 1 p.m. The first twenty-six broadcasts were fifteen minute round-table discussions.

SCHAEFFER APPEARS THREE TIMES

Schaeffer has appeared on the program three times; two participations are credited to Starrs, Williams, Gallagher; all others participated once.

Mr. Elmore Lann, superintendent of mails for San Francisco, has been selected by the Honorable William H. McCarthy, postmaster of San Francisco, to take the latter's place as guest moderator on next Sunday's program.

"Should all first class mail be sent airmail?" will be the featured topic of discussion from 1:00 to 1:30 p.m. on the May 3 program. President-elect Bill Feneran of Saint Mary's College will participate in the round-table along with Miss Mary Jane Burke, president of the senior class at San Francisco College for Women, Kenneth Pasqualetti of San Francisco State, and Thomas Ward of the University of San Francisco.

FINAL PROGRAM

The May 17 program, under direction of Dr. Baxter M. Geeting of San Francisco State, will discuss the subject: "Should college students and college entrants abandon collegiate careers and enter defense industries?" Don Wood will represent Saint Mary's. Other participants will be from San Jose State, University of San Francisco, and San Francisco State.

Brother Cyprian will moderate the final broadcast of May 31. August Zipse will represent Saint Mary's. Other colleges on the program will be San Jose State, Stanford, and University of San Francisco.

Bettencourt Now 'Louie' In U. S. Army

Wm. J. Bettencourt, '40, former sports editor of the Saint Mary's Collegian, was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the United States Army in ceremonies at Washington, D. C. on April 25.

Bettencourt, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bettencourt, 703 Joaquin Avenue, San Leandro, received his commission after completing a three-month's course of instruction at the Quartermaster Officers' Training School, Camp Lee, Va.

LEAVE NEXT WEEK

He will visit in the bay area next week during a 10-day leave of absence.

After his graduation from Saint Mary's, Bettencourt worked as a reporter on the Napa Daily Register and as police reporter on the Oakland Post-Inquirer. He was inducted into the Army last July and received his preliminary training at Fort Francis E. Warren, Wyoming.

Bettencourt was active in legislative and journalistic circles on the Saint Mary's campus. He held the post of managing editor of The Collegian for one semester and was sports editor for three years in succession. He was also a prominent member of the Executive Council in his undergraduate days.

Compulsory Cards . . .

When the Saint Mary's students return next fall they will be confronted with an order to buy student body cards. Whether they will accept this willingly or not is a test of their essential loyalty and good faith.

Our student body, like every student body throughout the country, will definitely be depleted, and the Associated Students in order to carry on successfully a full schedule of activities must have money. The primary source of this money is student cards. In the past some athletes and some of the students in general refused to buy cards because of their own selfish reasons, yet they insisted upon exercising all the privileges that only card holders had a right to.

In the past we thought we could afford to ignore this lethargy on the part of a few, but this is an emergency and we are not open with "business as usual." Every student must cooperate and buy his student card. With the proper spirit, next year promises to be highly successful. The student body has some of the most capable leaders we have had in years and with a reasonable amount of backing Saint Mary's will be assured a banner year.

Gael Is Out! . . .

The 1942 Gael reached the campus yesterday and the awaiting student body was more than satisfied. The feature of the book was the voluminous informal section; students were shown in every mood and aspect, some shots were humorous, others serious. In all it gave a complete and variated cross section of student life.

The Gael's cover was dark-red leather on which a Galloping Gael is etched. The entire tone is one of interest in each student; even the portraits are more personalized than in the past.

Some very capable art work was done by George Collopy as well as some interesting photography by the entire staff. The book consists of one-hundred and eighty pages, each of which contains an insight into student life.

Milo Mackin, student editor of the annual year book, should be given the praise deserved for a hard year's work. This edition exemplifies the painstaking work and effort that goes into the Gael each year. Thanks again to Milo Mackin for the best yearbook on the coast.

Thanks, Big Brothers . . .

Thank you "Big Brothers" for the efficient and intelligent handling of the "Red and Blue" Game. Spectators were seated well, tickets were easily obtained, and the game itself went off in orderly fashion.

The fracas was interesting; green players turned in finished perfromances, and the spirit of competition was in evidence everywhere. The players, catching the spirit of the crowd, turned in a fine game.

It was a fitting finish of a well-rounded Spring training. Coach Norman Strader deserves credit for getting the boys in excellent shape in a short time, and for instilling in them a surprisingly competitive mental condition.

From the size of the crowd, which included numerous friends of the College, the Saint Mary's Club should realize a sufficient profit to continue their praiseworthy work. Each faculty member and student welcomes these fine men to our campus and hopes that they return often. These men, working hard and efficiently for Saint Mary's, truly deserve the name of "Big Brothers."

Graduation Sunday!

On Sunday the graduating class will go through very graceful and subdued motions; they will wear caps and gowns; they will hold their sheepskins; their mothers will kiss them on their faces; their fathers will step up, shake hands, mutter, "Son!"

But these will not be wearing their gowns to bed; mother certainly won't kiss them again when they wake up; their father will not be taking the next day off to be with "Son!" In some cases, son will be saying "Yes sir!" and "No sir!" to the carburetor on a jeep. Or perhaps son will be draped over the port bow of a battlewagon, telling the fishes how he won his block. Maybe you will spy son walking about in the uniform of an intelligence officer. This boy was an honor student who had to learn his typewriting all over again before he broke down the reserve of the Washington grey-beards. And away up in the clouds somewhere, a marine instructor is trying to push son out of an air transport. Says son, "I was never this high!"

But what is the use of all this sacrifice of talent, an aged old intellectual of another era will ask. Perhaps he doesn't realize how the graduate of today must stand in the world tomorrow. Today's graduate cannot stand above the people in a snobbish attitude. He is made of flesh and blood like the ordinary man who never knew what higher education meant. So that when the big rut sees everything down, the educated man will boost his fellows out from underneath and up to the top again.

Army Makes An Offer! . . .

The United States Army Air Corps this week offered the young college man of this nation the opportunity to serve his country, but still complete his education.

Undergraduates registered in accredited schools will be allowed to continue their regular studies. At the completion of the collegiate career, these young men will be inducted as officers in the Army Air Corps of the United States. Of course, there is the stipulation that the men signed under this classification must retain their scholastic and academic averages.

We feel that this offer is a sporting and most conducive opportunity for the men of Saint Mary's. So we would advise the Gaels to look into this chance by contacting the recorder right away.

QUOTE OF THE WEEK: Flipped a gum-chewing maiden at one of our East Bay dance halls to our "Bad Boy Peck." Chihuahua Mota, "What high school do you go to, kid? What high school, huh?"

CAMPUS TALES: Last year it was Horway's Family Album. Well this year it's Milo's Handbook . . . Bud Townsend didn't have a shiner when he left the red and blue game Sunday, but he did have it when he returned home from a date with Everett Joseph and "Nibs" Wright. Just a coincidence? . . . Kennerley appears lost behind the counter at the co-op. Maybe Louie better let him work with a baseball bat in his hand. . . . Some of the lads are trying to get dates for many of the Gaels to various East Bay proms. They seem to be having a bad time, for one will go. I think we know why. Three guesses. Right the first time. . . . Frosh had a big blowout at an Oakland restaurant last Tuesday night. Quite an eventful evening. You'd be surprised where they all ended up after the dinner. We're not tellin'. . . . Quinn senior didn't get after Quinn junior yet. Things is getting worser and worser with the youngster. . . . Max Ullom and Tom Saunders are always together. They look like the goldust twins. . . . Gael interests in general seem to be shifting from the East Bay to San Francisco and San Rafael now. After seeing some of the damsels we agree. Boy, that's for us, but yes. . . .

CLASSIC QUOTE: Little Willie Pyne to Harry McLaughlin: "Don't walk near me, Harry, or people will think that I know you."

QUANDRIES: We wonder how Jack Pollock is managing now that Beck has checked out? Why Maestri goes to the city every night instead of boarding at school as he is supposed to do. . . . Why Don Fye persists in talking baby-talk to certain parties. Come now, Don, we are grownup little men, now, aren't we? . . .

PROPHETIC — Since the Cottle is scheduled for this Friday evening, we were rumaging through some files and found the 1908 Cottle Contest Program. Some of the topics, and quite appropriate they were, too: "Our Heroic Dead" by Charles T. Moul, "America in the Pacific" by John J. Burke, "Decadence of Pacific Morality" by Francis W. Dunne, and "An Aspect of the Fleet Question" by Sylvester Andriano.

PARTIES—Oh yes, former Gael, Harold Cicerone, gave Paul Bush a big birthday party at the Mark. Don Brush, the Goel Casanova, was the only other Gael present.

1942 Gael And Grads Get Brief Once Over

By Richard Colbert '43

The 1942 GAEL, edited by Milo Mackin, Saint Mary's Minute Man with a Schedule, reached the campus yesterday, arriving opportunely and, astonishingly, on schedule. At least it was only little more than half an hour late. The Bystander lined up at the end of a rather shaky queue, and like the rest, paid his dime for luxury tax, grabbed his GAEL and walked off into a corner to look for his picture.

While the Bystander looks for his picture, we will toss a few bouquets to the staff behind the GAEL. The Editor, we think, deserves nothing but praise. He gave the student body just what it wanted.

HAS JINGLE IN POCKET

The yearbooks produced in the past have been imposing. So were the expenses. The debts incurred by previous editors in pursuit of the nth degree of quality would have purchased a set of A-1 priority ratings. This year the budget shows a couple of figures in the black. That's what we wanted and we got it, thanks to Mackin's frgality.

SENOR MORAGA CAVORTS

In essence, the 1942 GAEL differs from its predecessors only in the number and variety of "candid" photographs, and in sports coverage for the term. The informal section has the best display we have yet seen, with almost every phase of campus life recorded faithfully. The sports section is far in advance of others in recent years. At last, original action shots have replaced the stereotyped program photos, giving us something with a dash of novelty. George Collopy's miniature cartoons, showing Senor Moraga taking or meting punishment on the gridiron, are amusing and vivid — we think they are the best innovation in the book.

Other sections—minor sports, class and faculty photographs, campus clubs and societies—match in quality almost anything of past years.

MILO PUT GAEL ON DIET

Mackin used Spartan economy where it would best succeed. The cover is not padded, as other books have been. As a consequence, the volume is much slimmer than usual. Actually, in content, there is the same number of photographs—the most important item in any yearbook. Discounting the cover-padding, and the other varieties of padding used by former editors, the 1942 GAEL can hold its head up with the best. It may be thin, but it's the result of careful diet. And what's more, despite the additional difficulties presented by wartime restrictions, the GAEL is starting its public life with that independent spirit that goes with money in the bank.

GRADS CAN SEE GAEL, TOO

We said a little while ago that the GAEL arrived opportunely. By that we meant that it's just in time for graduation, and those of us with one, two or three years ahead can now picture what a large chunk will be taken out of the student body. There is no need to remark regarding the fine qualities of the men of the senior class. If you must be told again, see Editorial Emphasis on thi page, in which the Collegian editor has probably made a few sentimental remarks.

PART OF LANDSCAPE

As for us, we will miss the gang which leaves Sunday after next. Good, bad and indifferent, they've been kicking, running and, occasionally, rolling about the campus for four years —some even longer. So They're as much a part of the Saint Mary's scene as the dining hall and classrooms which, after all, have only a few more years to their credit. At first we thought of eulogizing a few of the lesser-known seniors, but it can't be dne. They're all noted. In one way or another they have all carved an important niche for themselves in the Gael Hall of Fame.

GOODBYE, GRANDS

So all we can do is wonder what will become of them—after the war is over. But we'll bet that doesn't worry them. Their immediate trouble is how to walk across the chapel steps without tripping on their black gowns. We'll be there to watch them, and so will the Bystander if we can drag him away from gazing at his picture in the GAEL.

COMMENT ON CURRENT NEWS

By Richard Saveri

Attired in long flowing black robes and caps, thirty-three seniors will receive their diplomas at the seventy-ninth annual Commencement exercises, to be held before the Saint Mary's chapel next Sunday afternoo n.

These graduates are particularly interesting because they are members of the jubilee class, that is, they entered the College in the year that Saint Mary's was celebrating its diamond jubilee, its seventy-fifth year of existence as a major academic and educational institution. They are also the last class to graduate from Saint Mary's College before it assumes its new naval duties and becomes the "Annapolis of the West."

Jubilee Class Graduates Sunday

Upon graduation, most of the seniors will take their place besides their fellowmen in one of the nation's armed forces, others will continue their studies in graduate schools, while others will enter one of the professions, trades or businesses. Like the caustic and flippant Carlyle, they will find that in the so-called "cruel world" "experience is the best of schoolmasters, only the school fees are heavy."

Regardless of the branch of service or the particular endeavor which these seniors will attempt to follow, we are certain that they will be representative of the fine Catholic gentlemen that have preceded them from these portals and halls of learning. At Saint Mary's these young men were supposed to have been inculcated with Catholic philosophy and with the European tradition of culture. Above all, they will be looked upon as representatives of the Catholic education of this nation. We feel certain that these men will be typical Catholic gentlemen, that they will live up to Saint Mary's high standards, and that they will maintain a representative life in whichever field they might enter, or in whatever capacity that they may choose to serve Uncle Sam. We also feel certain that they will continue to be fine specimens of Catholic manhood and that they will serve as examples of Christian humility and erudition to whomever they might contact or with whomever they might associate.

Making its appearance on the campus yesterday was the 1942 edition of the Saint Mary's College yearbook, the "Gael." Attired neatly in a red cover, the book was emphatically representative of the 1941-42 year at Saint Mary's College. It was certainly indicative of the great amount of energy and time that was expended in its completion by editor Milo Mackin and his staff. They veritably deserve many commendations for the fine job that they have accomplished, both artistically and financially.

A few of the students have been heard to remark that this year's book is considerably smaller in size than those of previous years. However it need only be remarked that editor Mackin gave the student his money's worth. What we mean is that the staff of this year's book gave the student a three dollar book for three dollars. In past year's, the books have been more elaborate, it is true, but it must be remembered that those editors gave the student body a five dollar book for three dollars; consequently, the ASSMC are still paying for debts which were contracted for by those luxurious editors. Students have been deprived of many activities so that these unnecessary debts might be met. This year, however, the Gael has come out in the blue, and next year's student body calendar of activities will not have to be curtailed to pay for this year's Gael.

Thanks, Mackin, For A Fine Gael

So we feel that editor Mackin and his staff deserve the thanks of the ASSMC for producing a book which is truly representative of Gael student life and which is one of the few books that have taken the financial and practical aspect into view. We sincerely hope that we, as editor of next year's book, can do as capable a job.

Well, here it is! This is our swan song for the year. This is the last edition for the current term. After the completion of this ink-wasting toy, we shall lay down our chewed copy pencil, pick up our blue books, adjust our spectacles, and timidly set out for class to start out exams. After the completion of our tests (Oh, joy triumphant!), we shall go home to recuperate for the next two weeks, while the great majority of our confreres are tripping the light fantastic at the many "shin-kicks", pardon us, we meant "shindigs" or proms that are usually being sponsored about this time of the year. Then, if last vacation is any indication, we shall proceed to loaf all summer and return next term with renewed energy and a coat of tan.

We could be classical and state, with Lord Byron:

"Farewell! a word that must be, and hath been —
A sound which makes us linger;
yet farewell."

However, we'll just be blunt and say: "So long. See you next term." (Uncle Sam willing!)

Hither Thither With V-Girls

By GERALD RING, '44

WOOL SHORTAGE: "We're getting victory handkerchiefs for graduation this year," a senior was telling me, "either in khaki or middy-blue!" After commencement exercises, all the poor fellows will meet for a big blow-out, I suppose. The way fellows are leaving school in their second lap, perhaps the Sophs should receive lamb-skins and relieve the hard-working sheep.

And while I feel patriotic:

To keep our ships on even keel
Takes tons and tons of sorset steel.
The die is cast, their fate is written,
You girls, now, must bulge for Britain."
—Exchange (Fordham).

HITHER AND THITHER: Stamps for Victory are being boosted all over the country. But the colleges have unleashed the biggest pack of brain-storms this side of the Solomons. U.S.C. has erected a Victory Hut where they lure you in with pretty little things called Chevronettes. Just as you are about to drop a penny into a gum-machine, one of these V-Girls strolls by—you buy a stamp instead. . . . At an eastern school, before the fellow can take his date out he has to buy Victory Stamps. If he buys a few cents worth, the girl is polite; a dollar's worth, the girl is accommodating; a hundred dollar bond, she'll stick around 'till he cashes in!

GREEK PLAY: Fordham University is echoing from the critics' appraisals of its recent Greek play, "Eumenides." All the dialogue is in the Green language as spoken in the days before the English found Democracy (which must have been a long time ago, according to British historians. Maybe the English did find Democracy in the attic, but America certainly dusted it off to look like something.) But while I'm on Greek, not politics, there is a certain teacher in the Science Department who was surprised to find some of the boys helping him to remember his Greek alphabet, that he rubbed out an equation with his skull-cap and placed the eraser on his head.

"What do devils do when they lose their tails?" Two angels were taking time out on a low cloud bank.
"Why, I don't know!"
"They go to a liquor store."
"Why? Why?" This little angel's wings fairly moulted.
"That's the place where they retail spirts." And they both fell off the cloud in spasms.

HERE AND THERE: The double reunions last last Saturday and Sunday; Pucci trying to vault a two-foot hedge and dinnerfalling flat on his new suit . . . Tony Alston going home early at 9 o'clock . . . Joe Healy saluting the street-cleaners coming on the morning shift, then leaping onto a fireplug at Nineteenth avenue and holding the commuters from boarding their busses, while revolving round and round, crying: "I'm a gatling gun, ta-ta-ta-ta!" Boom! Joe falls off and realizes why the cokes lasted so long . . . Don Wood relaxing with the measles . . . Brother Joseph telling his lads about the time he was at West Point. We hope he says nothing about this to the naval officers all around here. Tell them about your trip to Annapolis, brother, when the admiral had you to dinner . . . The boarders who wander in Monday mornings, lugging their overnight bags all through the morning classes as well as their overcast eye-lids . . . Walt Linton hustling in those knee-pants when someone asked him: "I suppose you'll be going to school here someday, eh, little fellow?" . . . The Aztec and his Indians were down in the town the other evening scuffling the hardwood with unappreciated poise. As the boys pranced about a likely thing, she shifted the gum to the other side of her rosey jaws: "What high school you guys from, huh?"

Johnny Feerick walked up to a likely lad the other morning with his collection basket.
"Anything for the missions, bud?"
"I never give to the missions," whispered the niggardly other.
Feerick fished into his basket and finally found a dime.
"Here, have one, bud! These are for heathens, too."
